Mr. URBAN,
RAINHAM, called in antient deeds Renham, is in the Hundred of Milton, and Lathe of Scray; in the division of East Kent, within the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the diocese of Canterbury, and deanry of Sittingbourne. The high road from London to Dover leads through it, on which, at a little more than the 34th mile stone from London, is the village called Rainham Street, having the church, with the parsonage and vicarage, in it.

The Church (See Plate I.) which is dedicated to St. Margaret, is a handsome building, consisting of two very broad aisles and two chancels, with a high beacon tower at the West end of it, in which are six bells and a clock. There was formerly some good painted glass in the windows of this church, all which has been long since destroyed.

The high chancel belongs to the parsonage of Rainham. In it lie buried several of the family of Allen; also J. Norris, esq. Master of the Trinity-house and Commissioner of the Navy; there is a small monument with the effigies of him and his wife kneeling at a desk. On the North side of the altar is a handsome tomb of marble; the brasses gone. On the pavement, a memorial in brass for John Bloor, who died 1529: near it are several others, robbed of their brasses.

The North chancel belongs to the Earl of Thanet. In it are two costly monuments, one of them having the effigies of a man in military attire, sitting on part of his armour; erected for George, sixth son of John Tufston Earl of Thanet, by Margaret, daughter and coheir of Richard Earl of Dorset. He died 1670. The other, having the figure of a person in his parliamentary robes, erected for Nicholas Earl of Thanet, who died 1679. In the North-west corner of the North aisle, is a vault for the family of John Russell, esq. of Greenwich. Underneath this chancel are two large vaults, partly above ground, in which are deposited the remains of the family of Tufston. These vaults, and perhaps the chancel over them, were most probably built by Christopher Bloor, esq. whose remains are deposited in the Easternmost of them.

On October 20th, 1791, the steeple was greatly damaged by a storm, lightning split the wall of it for several feet in length.

Robert de Crevequer, the founder of Leeds abbey, about 1137 gave to the canons there, in free and perpetual alms, all the churches of his estates, with the advowsons of them, and among them that of Renham, with eighteen acres of land in that parish; which gift was made in the presence of William archbishop of Canterbury and John bishop of Rochester. It was at the latter end of the reign of Edward III. appropriated to that Priory. The Parsonage of it was valued in 1384, 8 Rich. II. at 26*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.* which, with the advowson, continued part of the possessions of the Priory till the dissolution of it in the reign of Henry VIII. when it was, with all its revenues, surrendered into the king's hands. This church, with the advowson of the vicarage, remained in the hands of the Crown till 1558, 6 Mary, when the Queen granted the advowson, among others, to the archbishop of Canterbury, with whom it has remained ever since, his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury being now patron of it. But the Parsonage of this church remained longer in the hands of the Crown. Queen Elizabeth granted it in her 10th year to Dorothy Stafford, for the term of thirty years, at the yearly rent of 16*l.*; after which the fee of it was granted to Moyle; and Captain Robert Moyle died possessed of it in 1659, whose grandson, John Moyle, esq. of Buckwell, left an only daughter and heir, Mary, who carried it in marriage to Robert Breton, esq. of the Elmes, near Dover; and he died possessed of it in 1708. His eldest son, Moyle Breton, esq. of Kennington, succeeded him in his estate, which he alienated to Sir Edward Dering, Bart. whose son, Sir Edward Dering, Bart. is the present possessor. The Vicarage is valued in the King's books at 14*l.* 4*s.* 7*d.* and the yearly tenths 1*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.* In 1640 it was valued at 70*l.* Communicants one hundred. It is now of the value of about 200*l.* per annum.

By the last Return to Parliament, in 1811, the Parish of Rainham contained 1 house building, 2 uninhabited, and 130 houses occupied by 156 families (83 of whom are chiefly employed in agriculture, 60 in trade, and
